13TH FEBRUARY, 1847.

STAR HOTEL,

LATE THE "ATLAS" OFFICE,
459, 461, GEORGE-STREET, SYDNEY,
Opposite the Post Office.

ARCHIBALD MENZIES takes the first available opportunity of informing his friends on the Lachlan, Bogan, Macquarie, &c., &c., in the remote districts of the colony, and beyond the boundaries, as well as the gentlemen resident in the settled counties, and in the vicinity of Sydney, and in the city itself, that the

will be open, and its arrangements complete, from this date, and he invites them to a consideration of the plans he proposes to follow.

TABLE D'HOTE.

In the first place there will be provided every day by 1 P.M., a substantial as well as recherché repast, the charge for which will be as moderate, if not more moderate, than that of any house in the city, and the arrangements of the cuisine, and the facilities afforded by the construction of the premises, warrant A. M. in assuring those who resort to his long room everything that they can possibly desire.

CELLAR.

This comes next. The stock which A. M. has laid in, and the arrangements he has made for a continuous supply of the very best in Malt, Wines, Spirits, Liqueurs, and every other description of beverage are such as cannot be surpassed by any house in the city, while his method of conducting business with his merchants will enable him to supply his guests with first-rate articles at a lower rate than others can supply inferior.

TO FAMILIES.

The STAR HOTEL offers peculiar advantages, as there are abundance of bed-rooms, with sitting-rooms attached, altogether separated from other apartments; and they can in these receive every attendance, without being in any way inconvenienced by the ordinary proceedings of the house, as one of general business.

TO SETTLERS, SQUATTERS, AND OTHERS, FROM THE COUNTRY,

The STAR HOTEL offers, in one house combined, all the comforts and conveniences which hitherto they have been compelled to seek one at one house, another at another.

And generally to all coming from the country, as well as proprietors of valuable horse stock in Sydney, there is ample accommodation for horses, and grooms attending on them, as for the proprietors themselves.

The most strict attendance is guaranteed, and by the moderation of his charges the host hopes that His Star will prove in the Ascendant. 2569

COMMISSIONS OR AGENCY IN ENGLAND OR SCOTLAND.

MR. FRANCIS LOW being about to visit Britain for a few months, will leave the colony by the ship Medway.

In offering his services to the public of New South Wales, Mr. Low begs to assure those who may favour him with their commands for the performance of any business, that (should he undertake it) his utmost exertions should be made with the whole energy of his nature to secure their entire approbation on the present occasion, and their confidence for the future.

Mr. L. will be in attendance at the Royal Hotel, George-street, daily, from eleven to one o'clock.

Parties who may wish to send to their friends copies of the Sydney Directory will have an opportunity of doing so by Mr. Low, who will undertake to deliver them, if properly addressed, in London, Edinburgh, or Dundee, free of expense; or will post them, postage paid, to any other parts of the United Kingdom, for one shilling, in addition to the price of the work.

☞Orders will be received by Mr. Moffitt, Pitt-street; Mr. Ford, George-street; or Mr. Low. 3133

EXTRAORDINARY CURES BY HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF DREADFUL ULCEROUS SORES IN THE FACE AND LEG, IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

(The truth of this statement was duly attested before a Magistrate.)

I, HUGH MACDONALD, of Lot 55, in King's County, doth hereby declare, that a most wonderful preservation of my life has been effected by the use of Holloway's Pills and Ointment; and I furthermore declare, that I was very much afflicted with Ulcerous Sores in my face and leg: so severe was my complaint, that the greater part of my nose and the roof of my mouth was eaten away, and my leg had three large ulcers on it, and that I applied to several medical gentlemen, who prescribed for me, but I found no relief. My strength was rapidly failing every day, and the malady on the increase; when I was induced to try Holloway's Medicines. After taking two or three boxes, I experienced so much relief and found the progress of the disease so much arrested, that I was enabled to resume my ordinary labours in the field. The sores which were so disagreeable and repulsive to behold, are now nearly all healed. Having received such truly beneficial aid, I feel myself bound to express my gratitude to the person by whose means I have thus been restored from the pitiable and miserable state I was in; and for the sake of humanity, make known my case, that others similarly situated might be relieved.

(Signed) HUGH MACDONALD.

This declaration made before me, at Bay Fortune, the 3rd day of September, 1845.

JOSEPH COFFIN, Justice of the Peace.

The above case of Hugh Macdonald, of Lot 55, came personally under my observation; and when he first applied to me to get some of the Medicines, I thought his case utterly hopeless, and told him that his malady had got such hold that it was only throwing his money away to use them. He, however, persisted in trying them, and to my astonishment, I find what he has aforesaid stated to be perfectly correct, and consider the case to be a most wonderful cure.

(Signed) WILLIAM UNDERHAY, Bay Fortune.

A Cure of Ringworm of Four Years' Standing, Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Grace Moro, 6, Hemlock-court, Carey-street, London, 6th November, 1845.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

Sir,—About four years ago my little girl caught the Ringworm, and although I have ever since had advice from many Doctors, and tried every means to get rid of it, yet I was unable to do so. About three weeks ago I was induced to try some of your Pills and Ointment, and I am most happy to say the result has been a perfect cure.

(Signed) GRACE MORO.

☞ Skin Diseases, peculiar to any part of the Globe, may be effectually Cured by the use of these celebrated Medicines.

CURE OF A DESPERATE CASE OF ERYSIPELAS Copy of a Letter from Mr. Joseph Gildon, Jun., a Farmer, East Keal, near Spilsby, Lincolnshire, 8th April, 1846.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

Sir,—I have the gratification to announce to you a most wonderful cure wrought upon myself, by the use of your Ointment and Pills. I had a severe attack of Erysipelas in my right foot, which extended along my ankle, and was attended with swelling and inflammation to an alarming degree, insomuch that I was unable to move without the use of crutches. I consulted a very eminent Physician, besides other medical men, but to no purpose. At last I tried your Ointment and Pills, when, strange to say, in less than two weeks the swelling and inflammation gradually subsided to such a degree that I was enabled to pursue my daily avocation, to the utter surprise and amazement of those who were acquainted with my case, seeing that I was cured so quickly. I and my family are well known here, as my father holds his farm under the Rev. J. Spence, Rector of our parish.

(Signed) JOSEPH GILDON.

The Testimony of Dr. Bright, of Ely-place, Holborn, as to the Extraordinary Power of Holloway's Ointment in the Cure of Ulcerated Sores.

Extract of a Letter from the above celebrated Physician.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

Sir,—I think it but an act of justice to inform you, that I have tried your Ointment in several old cases of Ulcerated Sore Legs, which, for a considerable time had resisted every kind of treatment, but which were afterwards effectually cured by its use. In the treatment of Bad Breasts I have also found your Ointment of the greatest service. Indeed, from my practical knowledge, I conceive it to be a most invaluable remedy.

(Signed) RICHARD BRIGHT, M.D.

Holloway's Ointment will Cure any cases of Bad Legs, Ulcerous Sores, Bad Breasts, Sore Nipples, Cancers, Tumours, Swellings, Contracted or Stiff Joints, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Chapped Hands and Lips, Bunions, Soft Corns, Piles, the Bite of Moschettoes, Sand Flies, Chiego-foot, Yaws, Coco-bay, and all Skin Diseases common to Europe, or to the East and West Indies, or other tropical climes.

Holloway's Pills should be taken in most instances when using the Ointment, in order to purify the blood and invigorate the system.

VICTORIA HOUSE.

259, PITT-STREET.

IN retiring from the above business, JOSEPH FARMER tenders to all parties his grateful thanks for the very kind and liberal support afforded him, during the whole time he has been engaged therein, and most respectfully solicits a continuance of the same on behalf of

MESSRS. PRICE AND FAVENC,

who have been engaged with him for the last six years, the former as buyer in the London market, and the latter confidentially in Sydney, and to whom he has this day sold the whole of his stock and the good-will of his business in Sydney, and at his branch establishment, Parramatta.

PRICE AND FAVENC

Respectfully announce that they have this day purchased of Mr. Joseph Farmer his extensive and varied assortment of silks, shawls, hosiery, drapery, &c., &c., at a great sacrifice upon the prime cost, which will enable them to offer the whole of this large stock to the public at a considerable reduction upon the usual charges.

In addition to the above attraction Price and Favenc have much pleasure in being enabled to notify that they are now engaged in opening and marking one of the largest, richest, newest, and cheapest shipments of goods ever received in the colony, carefully selected and bought for cash in the London market by Mr. Price, and just landed from the Soubahdar, the whole of which will be ready for inspection by Monday next, the 1st March.

Soliciting for themselves, the same kind support which has been experienced by their predecessor, Price and Favenc beg to say that their business will be conducted upon the improved system of never deviating from the price marked—every customer will receive the most respectful attention, and one of the partners will always be in attendance.

Price and Favenc have much pleasure in making known that their establishment will continue to derive all the advantage Mr. Farmer's intimate knowledge of the market must give in the selection of goods, as that gentleman is about proceeding to England, for the purpose of purchasing for cash in the London, Manchester, and Paris markets, regular monthly shipments.

The present Premises having been found too limited for the increasing business, Price and Favenc have resolved, at an early period, to make some extensive improvements.

Price and Favenc beg to subjoin a few of the leading articles of their new Stock—

Rich plaid and tartan silks
Black and coloured satinettes
Ditto ditto ducapes
Rich Oriental silks, for scarfs, visites, &c.

SHIPS' MAILS.

Mails will be closed at the Post Office as follow:—

For Auckland. — By the Maukin, this evening, at 6.

For England.—By the Sir George Seymour, P.O P., on Monday, at eleven.

For Hobart Town.—By the Waterlily, this day, at noon.

For the Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius, and Adelaide.—By the Flibberty, this day, at noon.

For Hongkong.—By the Daniel Watson, on the 6th proximo.

The Neptune and Sunflower proceeded to sea yesterday, but were compelled to return to port owing to the wind setting on the land.

The Proteus has hauled alongside the Walmer Castle, to discharge her oil for London.

The Pacific left Sydney on the 17th instant, and has returned to port owing to the illness of the chief officer. She has not taken any oil since her departure, neither has she spoken any whalers.

Some fears have been entertained by parties interested for the safety of the ship Arche d Alliance, belonging to the Society of Oceania, which was expected in Sydney some months since. We observe by the Samoan Reporter, of September, that about the middle of that month the ship was there, accompanied by the brig Anonyme, and that some priests were endeavouring to procure land on which to form a Roman Catholic Mission. Both vessels were to call at the isles to the westward of the Samoas before coming to Sydney: so that they are not so long overdue as has been supposed.

"Sworn to no master, of no sect am I."

THE MAYOR'S EXPLANATION.

The City Council of Sydney seems to rejoice in putting from it every appearance of a seemly and dignified deportment.

Confined to the duties which they were elected to perform, individual members would hardly have had scope to make themselves ridiculous and contemptible: for municipal matters are not in themselves ridiculous or contemptible. But puny intellects settle on puny subjects; and so, leaving the graver matters of local government, as things of minor importance, the attention of the civic sages is attracted to the more inviting topic of private gossip and personal scandal.

We do not consider the dispute pending between Messrs. Broughton and Flood any matter for our interference, any more than it was for that of the City Council. As private parties, so long as they keep without the limits of the criminal tribunals of the country, they may try to overreach each other, or fancy they are over-reached, as much as they please; but the city as a whole, has nothing to do with such transactions. It is all nonsense to say that it is disgraced in the person of its chief magistrate. If, as Mayor, Mr. Broughton had committed any grievous moral delinquency, it would be fair matter for comment. But such is not the case. The sin with which he stands charged by Mr. Flood was committed long ago—was well-known, publicly known—but for all that he was elected Alderman and elected Mayor, simply because the public neither in character nor purse were aggrieved by it; though, perhaps, Mr. Flood was. But Mr. Flood had his remedy; if he believed Mr. Broughton to have injured him, if he felt a repugnance to sit and act with him, he could leave it alone, and he did do so; but when he added to that course, the letter which the Council in its gossip-loving moments thought fit to place on the minutes, he insulted, not the Mayor, for he had told Mr. Broughton and Mr. Broughton's friends the same things over and over again, but the citizens and the citizen's representatives, who had elected Mr. Broughton to the Chief Magistracy, because they were not all of the same opinion as Mr. Flood. That Mr. Flood, thinking he had been cheated, should write angry things of Mr. Broughton, was not surprising; but it was somewhat strange that the Council, who had not been cheated, for they knew every particular of the transaction before the Mayor's election took place, should choose to record all the angry things said or written of their presiding officer, concerning matters with which they had nothing to do.

But the folly of such a proceeding soon became apparent, having, by placing Mr. Flood on their minutes, shown that they considered it was a matter for public enquiry—their next act was, to pass a vote in full Council, that such enquiry should not take place. That the only part of Mr. Flood's letter worth taking notice of was the resignation, and for accepting that they would fine him £25. The idea of any explanation from Mr. Broughton was scouted, and then, when the whole matter was done with, that gentleman himself comes forward a month afterwards and puts another letter in to be placed on the minutes, narrating a good deal about the Sydney Auction Company; bills of costs and discovery, actions at law and in equity; not one of which do we remember noticing as committed to the care of the municipal representatives of the city in the Act of Incorporation of the city of Sydney.

This second letter is read also; and thus it would seem that the matter would end, as those who were interested in Mr. Broughton's private character must have been satisfied with his explanation. The Alderman having abused the Mayor, and the Mayor having, like Fanny Squeers, after a torrent of explanation, treated him (the Alderman) with silent contempt, the subject might satisfactorily have dropped; but no—Alderman Macdermott, who expressed, on a former occasion, his disgust that the private squabbles of parties should have been brought before the Council, must needs move that the Mayor's letter form a subject for the consideration of the Council. What possible good can result from such a proceeding. If the Council dare have the impertinence to say that Mr. Flood is wrong—Mr. Broughton right, or vice versa—will their decision replace the Alderman or unseat the Mayor. Will the citizens be grateful to their representatives for revising Court of Requests' judgments rather than attending to the expenditure of their own money, and the removal of their own nuisances? It may be all very well for every member of the City Council to meet as individuals, in Mr. Broughton's or Mr. Flood's back parlour, or on neutral ground in Mr. Macdermott's drawing-room, and discuss this matter over a conciliatory glass; but in the citizens' Town Hall they have no right to assemble for any such purpose. The citizens should interfere to prevent it, and desire the Council to confine its attention to those matters for which it was elected, and hinting that the time wasted in discussing the faults and blemishes of private character might be well bestowed in thoughtful reflection how to sustain the public reputation of their own most august body.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Tuesday.

Equity Jurisdiction

Before His Honor Mr. Justice Therry.

ROWLEY v. HARRIS.

His Honor delivered his decision upon this matter, which was a motion to take an answer off the file argued last Court day. His Honor held that if a plaintiff moved to amend the bill, and served the defendant with the order, the latter was not prevented from filing his answer by such order and service.

The motion was therefore refused, with costs.

SMART AND ANOTHER v. BLACK.

Mr. Donnelly moved for and obtained an order for the delivering up of certain deeds deposited in the office of the Master.

GRIFFITHS AND OTHERS v. WALKER AND OTHERS.

Mr. Broadhurst moved that the submission to arbitration herein be made an order of Court.—Granted.

ARNDELL v. DARGIN.

The record in this case, which had been altered by mistake, was, upon the motion of Mr. Donnelly, restored to its former state.

HILL v. MORRIS.

Mr. Donnelly moved for and obtained an order for the deposit of deeds referred to in defendant's answer.

Outstanding Judgments. — The Puisne Judge in Equity intimated yesterday, that the several outstanding Equity judgments had been prepared, and would be delivered soon after the return of the Chief Justice from Bathurst.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS.

Tuesday.

Before Chief Commissioner Suttor.

PROOF OF CLAIMS.

In the estate of John Dillon, a third meeting was held, at which the following claims were proved: Walter Beames, £31 3s 8d; James Cooper, £30; Stone and Holt, £28 8s. 1d.; Henry Keck, £10. The meeting was afterwards adjourned till the 6th March ensuing, at half-past eleven o'clock.

In the estate of John Lihr, an adjourned single meeting was held, at which no claims were proved.

There are no meetings entered for to day.

MEETINGS FOR TO-MORROW.

Joseph Aarons, the younger; John Shalless, and Andrew Donovan, all appear before the Commissioner to make applications for certificates.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

(From late Australasian papers.)

A public meeting on the transportation question is to take place at Melbourne, on the 1st of March, at the Queen's Theatre. The meeting is convened by the Mayor, at the requisition of numerous respectable citizens.—R. F. Newland, Esq., J.P., has received a provisional appointment to the seat in the Legislative Council of South Australia, vacant by the absence on leave of John Morphett, Esq.—Considerable dissatisfaction prevails amongst the Wesleyan body in South Australia, in consequence of the acceptance of the State support.—The blacks at Gipps Land have been very troublesome of late, spearing the cattle of the settlers, some of whom attribute their misfortunes to the late expedition for the recovery of the white woman.—Boiling down at Geelong has commenced, one party having 15,000 sheep consigned to him for the pot.—A man servant on the station of Mr. R R. Mackenzie, of New England, in a fit of insanity, murdered his wife by cutting her throat, and then put an end to his own existence in the same manner.—A match, to come off at the next Melbourne Races, has been made up between the Port Phillip racer Petrel, and the Vandemonian horse Paganini, for 100 guineas.—The number of thefts and robberies committed in Melbourne has alarmingly increased since the importation of labour from Van Diemen's Land commenced.—At Messrs. Watson and Wight's boiling-down establishment, near Melbourne, 1000 sheep have been daily melted down for the last three months, and a fresh boiler, capable of melting 300 sheep daily, has been fitted up to meet the increasing demand in the establishment.—The 22nd of January, the anniversary of the foundation of the settlement of New Zealand, was commemorated by a regatta and other festive amusements, at Wellington.—A considerable amount of sickness has of late prevailed at Wellington, New Zealand, in consequence of the unusually warm weather.

Wesleyan Bazaar.—A sale of ornamental and useful articles will take place to-day, in the Royal Hotel, of which the proceeds are to be entirely devoted to charitable purposes.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Tuesday, 16.—Calm early, cirrous clouds: then gentle easterly breezes, veered north-east about ten o'clock, moderate through the day; sultry, and sun very powerful; north wind from six till eight, at that hour a squall from the south passed over; lightning in south-east—east. After half-past eight, darkly clouded, and began to blow with some violence from south, and continued a high wind all night.

Wednesday, 17.—Morning darkly overcast, and continued a strong south-south-east wind till about noon; middle part clouds broken and high in zenith. Afternoon moderate breezes, and clouds again thickly overspread.

Thursday, 18.—Pleasant weather, gentle south-easterly airs and breezes, and sky thinly overspread with cirro-stratus, till near sunset; afterward clear sky, and nearly calm through the night.

Friday, 19.—Calm or nearly so all this day, excepting light easterly airs for a while P.M., delicate cirrous clouds in zenith; some sheet lightning from north-west at night.

Saturday, 20.—Delightful weather, cloudless sky; forenoon calm, afternoon gentle breezes from north-east.

Sunday, 21.—Morning calm and bright till about ten o'clock; then north-easterly breezes set in, freshened gradually midday, and got to blow very fresh latter part; not a cloud in the sky day or night.

Monday, 22. — Bright weather, north-easterly breezes all day, middle and latter part fresh, but died away toward sunset; about eight o'clock a shift of wind to south-east and clouded over; and after ten came on to blow fresh from northward.

ABSTRACT OF SALES BY AUCTION THIS DAY.

Mr. G. A. Lloyd —At his Rooms, at eleven o'clock, Tea, Rice, Salt, Mustard, Sauces, Pickles, Flour, Mint Cordial, Gin, Bonnet Boards, Tissue Paper; at twelve o'clock, Wines.

Mr. I. J. Josephson.—At his Rooms, at eleven o'clock, Mess Beef, Flints, Walking Sticks, Whips, &c.

Mr. R. Fawcett.—At his Rooms, at twelve o'clock, Wool.

Messrs. Green, Thomas, and Co.—At the Custom House Stairs, Circular Quay, at twelve o'clock, a Sailing Yacht.

Mr. S. Lyons.—At his Mart, at eleven o'clock, White and Red Herrings.

Mr. Stubbs.—At the Mart, at eleven o'clock, 71 bales Fleece Wool; at twelve o'clock, a House in Riley-street, Riley Estate; at one o'clock, Allotments of the Villages of Canterbury and South Ashfield.

Legislative Council — We have heard, upon authority which we believe may be relied upon, that His Excellency the Governor has determined to call the Council together for the despatch of business on Tuesday, May 4. We have heard also that one effect, and a most important one, of the Governor's trips into the interior, will be a proposition to the Council respecting the making and repairing of the main roads of the colony. A select committee on railroads, we have heard it hinted, will probably be moved for on an early day of the session.

The Floral Show.—On Monday last, the stalls rented by the growers, in shed A of the George-street markets were cleared of the renters for the purpose of allowing the same to be fitted up for the Floral Show, which takes place to-day. The fruit forwarded to the show appears to be uncommonly large. The vegetables are said by good judges to be very fine, and the flowers, in the opinion of competent florists are such as would grace even a British floral show.

The late Discoveries.—Mr. Baker has published a skeleton map of New Holland, showing the routes Sir Thomas Mitchell pursued in his various exploring expeditions. Of course the most interesting portion is that showing his last route, with the position of the Victoria, the head of the Belyando or Cape, Fitzroy Downs, &c. We believe it has been corrected by Sir Thomas himself, and may therefore be relied upon as correct. It would, however, have made the map much more interesting had Leichhardt's and Sturt's tracks been shown, as they might very easily have been, without detracting in the least from the usefulness of Sir Thomas's routes.

The Campbellfield Murder —The man Cain, who was apprehended about three weeks ago on a charge of having murdered a widow at Campbellfield, near Campbelltown, was yesterday received into Woolloomooloo Gaol.

Bee-hive Stealing.—Between Sunday night and Monday morning last, a hive of bees, value 30s., was stolen from the premises occupied by John Robinson, landlord of the Boundary Stone, public-house, Surry Hills.

Police beyond the Boundaries.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Mr. Henry Hilton to be chief constable at Tumut.

Committal.—Michael Maher, a free man, was yesterday committed to take his trial for having, on the evening of Sunday last, assaulted Thomas Fitkin, of Goulburn-street, by striking him several times on the head with a stick, while a quarrel was in progress, apparently for the purpose of discovering whether Fitkin was an Orangeman or a member of the Ribbon Society. Maher was, after committal, allowed bail, himself in £40, with sureties in £20 each.

Charge of Murder.—About four o'clock on Monday afternoon Constable Ross entered Trowler's public-house, on the Brickfield-hill, and apprehended a man named Robert Hull on a charge of murder. Hull was yesterday remanded, in consequence of the charge pending against him being at present a matter connected with an adjourned inquest, which will be resumed to-day, at half past one, in Levy's, "Red Cross," public-house, Lower George-street.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—As the saving of labour, as well as the saving of water, are two very important objects in this colony, it has occurred to me that both might be done to a considerable extent, if the necessary means were suggested. I therefore venture to give my opinion on the subject. In this colony, when rain falls it is generally very heavy, and in some seasons we are afflicted with a great scarcity of that necessary fluid, which now rapidly runs off to the sea. In many warm climates the roofs of the houses are made flat, with a parapet wall raised about four feet above them; where the inhabitants enjoy the cool breezes of an evening or morning; and indeed sometimes sleep on them during the hot weather; and although my suggestion is for some flat roofs, it is for a far different purpose. What I propose is, that in towns or places where houses are built adjacent to each other, every alternate house should have a flat roof, as I have described, covered with zinc or some other waterproof material, and that the water from the adjacent sloping roof be conducted on to it instead of as at present brought down by pipes into the gutters and drains; by this means a large reservoir of water might be obtained and conducted through lead pipes to every room in the whole connexion of buildings, and pipes also might be constructed at a corner of each room, and hid by any piece of furniture, or behind the window-shutters, to conduct the dirty water to the drains. By this means, Betty, the chamber-maid, would be saved the trouble of carrying up a heavy tub of water when she wants to wash the bed-rooms, and she might empty the dirty water into the pipe, (with a strainer over it to prevent choaking), without the trouble of carrying it down again: the expense of this, (I am bold enough to call an improvement, though I am not aware that it has ever been tried) I conceive would not be greater than the mode of roofing now usually adopted, as the rafters, battens, shingles and nails, would be saved to cover the expense of zinc, and an extra security against fire would be obtained. I must not forget that just under the coping stone, pipes should be made to conduct any surplus water into the drains, and prevent it washing over the parapet wall, and many wells, that are now dug at a heavy expense, and do not furnish a quarter of the convenience that I have enumerated, would be avoided. There is no doubt but a portion of this water would evaporate with the sun; but enough would remain to use for a very considerable time—and even evaporation might be prevented by some light covering, if thought advantageous and inexpensive. Another saving of domestic labour I would suggest, namely, to do away with bells to summon the servants by means of tin tubes concealed in the walls, such as are extensively used in the coffee-houses in London, with a mouth-piece and cover to prevent any conversation being overheard in the kitchen; the mouth-piece to be placed in the usual place where the handle of the bell now is; the lady or gentleman would only require to open the mouth-piece and express their wants through it to the servants, which would save them the trouble of coming up or down stairs once at least, perhaps it would be as well not to dispense with bells altogether, lest the servant required did not happen to be in the kitchen, but both might be used in conjunction, and much time would be saved; possibly the outer walls would require to be made half a brick thicker, for the purpose of supporting the reservoir, and battens, or flooring-boards laid on the joists under the zinc, to sustain the weight of water; but at any rate improvements can be made upon anything that is found to be defective, by competent persons, without diminishing the good effects of improvement. The materials used in the countries where flat roofs are in vogue, I believe to be lime, tar, and molasses, but I do not know in what proportions; these are mixed well together, and beat down with a great deal of labour by men with flat wooden mallets, till the mixture becomes hard and dry, and if the expense of flat is not greater than the sloping roof, I consider it would be preferable whether used as a reservoir or not, as it can be used as a cool place of retirement in the warm evenings.

In conclusion, I must expect violent opposition and dissatisfaction from the shinglers, shingle-splitters, and water-carriers, but expect that you will convene a meeting of the Fire Insurance Companies, the plumbers, and not forgetting the pretty chamber-maids, to vote me a leaden medal for my exertions on their behalf.

I am, Gentlemen,
VINCIT VERITAS.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—Perceiving a long letter, with other correspondence, under the head of "City Council," published in your paper this day, signed "Thomas Broughton, Mayor," commenting on the subject matter of my retirement from the Council.

This letter is now ordered to be placed on the business paper of that body for consideration, and until disposed of by them I shall refrain from replying to the same.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Yours, respectfully,
EDWARD FLOOD.

MISCELLANEOUS EXTRACTS.

SAMOA, OR NAVIGATORS' ISLANDS.

(From the Samoan Reporter.)

In our last we gave a sketch of the physical features of the islands of the Samoan group as far westward as Aporima. A brief description of Savaii will conclude what we have to say on that subject.

Savaii is about eight or ten miles west of Aposima, and is the largest and highest of the group. A high mountain chain runs from its eastern to its western end, the highest point of which is six or seven thousand feet above the level of the sea. A large part of the surface of this island to the north-west, west, and south-west, is covered with comparatively fresh volcanic lava, on which a stunted and scanty vegetation only has had time to grow; it has a smaller extent of reef-inclosed lagoons than Upolu; but it has also extensive districts of good prolific soil, and forests of excellent timber. There is a fine district about twenty six miles in extent fronting the south-east, in which is the sub-district of Safotulafai, the head quarters of the island. This district has reefs and lagoons, except for four or five miles round a promontory, west of Aporima. Then again, after you have passed a forest of several miles in extent, by a road tiresome enough to the traveller, and begin to look north-east and north to seaward, you have again some twelve or fourteen miles of good land, and several miles of reef. This begins on going northward, from the south east side, at Le-ala-tele, "the great road," or street passing through four or five villages. And this is the sub-district in which the Romish priests commenced operations in September, 1845: it has no reef, and is a short distance inland. Thence, it is but few miles to Matautu, where there is the only harbour on the island; but it is exposed to the westerly and north-westerly winds, and is not much frequented. Matautu is 172·28 west, and 13·28 south. And then, from a few miles west of Safune for thirty miles, to the extreme west, and thence again fifteen miles proceeding in a south-eastward and eastward direction, you have bad roads inland, iron bound coasts, and extensive surfaces covered with bare lava; or the stunted vegetation which first appears as a little soil begins to be formed; and still on till you begin to bear north-east again, the land is comparatively poor and the coast bluff. In some portions, however, of this space, after the first twenty miles from Safune on the north-west side, you often pass forests having good timber, though a scanty soil, interspersed with cultivated plots belonging to the thin population found here. Falealupo, at the extreme west, stony as it is, has a population of 400. And there is the Fafa, the entrance to the Samoan Tartarus, about which superstition formerly hovered, "having no hope, and without God in the world."

On the north-west side, about twelve miles west of Safune, passing inland, on emerging from the bush, you are astonished at the sudden bursting to view of an extensive field of lava, which you at first think cannot have been thrown up more than a few years. Much of it is still hard and compact, and shows the waves or rimples on the surface as when it cooled. Other parts are partially broken up, and the masses lie in wild confusion. This scenery extends for miles longitudinally, and in breadth, from the summit of the mountains to the sea. The people now know very little of the facts of the eruption, but their vague tradition seems to fix it three or four generations back, and ascribes it to the anger of one of their Aitus, demons, and says that the natives with difficulty escaped in their canoes. The name they give it is significant. "O le Mu"—The burnt.

What Captain Wilkes (in his Narrative of the United States Exploring Expedition) says of the rocks of Upolu, may be said, with some variations, of those of the whole group, that they "are composed of a variety of basaltic lava, in which are found augite, felspar, alebite, and chrysolite."

We have read the Captain's volumes in a cursory manner, without meeting with the theories to which we alluded in our last, with the exception of an opinion that the New Zealanders may be traced to Savaii by certain similar words in the dialects. But, by such a method, the population of every island in eastern Polynesia might be traced to any of the rest. There are however some facts and traditions which indicate the probability that other groups were peopled from Samoa. There is here a Court dialect, quite unique, so far as our information goes, not spoken by a particular class, but addressed to the chiefs, more especially the great chiefs. There is also, we think, a perfection in the Samoan dialect, both in its sounds and structure, which favours the supposition that other dialects have been derived from the Samoan, rather than that the latter is a derivative. We would instance the sibilant, which abounds in Samoa, but is found in scarcely any other of these dialects we have obtained specimens of; in many words in the Tonga, Tahitian, and Hawaiian dialects its place is supplied by an aspirate, in others by a sharp e. Some of the families of Rarotonga, and, we believe, of other islands, have preserved traditions that they originated from Samoa. But perhaps Mr. Hale's volume on the Philology of the nations visited by the expedition may throw light on this subject, and those in the Natural History department on other interesting matters.

THE IRISH ARISTOCRACY.

(From the Times, November 3.)

We are not going to add to all the miseries of the Irish landlord a pious homily on the text that "property has its duties as well as its rights," in the ordinary—that is, the alimonial—sense of the words. Whatever we might say as to the duties of charity at so fearful a crisis would sound very tame, compared with the trumpet voice of the crisis itself. That text, however, has a peculiar bearing, which it is very clear is not remembered just now. The government of these islands is partly aristocratic, and is founded on property. The Constitution gives to property a predominance over numbers, intellect, virtue, enterprise, and many other legitimate pretensions to power. The man who is born to 20,000 acres speaks louder, under our laws, than 20,000 men. The laws are made and administered; offices are created and filled; honours are comparatively monopolized, by men of property, and that chiefly of property in land. All this is something over and above what people usually mean when they talk of "the rights of property;" and against which they usually set such duties as that of alms giving, or education, or supporting religion, or occasional residence when possible. It is something entirely over and above the right of a good rent for land, and the right of being secured by the State in the enjoyment of that rent. We are speaking of the political rights which our peculiar constitution, in perfect harmony with the national sentiment, adds to property, and by which property in these islands is made an object of much more eager acquisition than it would be but for the aristocratic tendency of our laws. It is with reference to these rights—for rights they now undoubtedly are—that we beg to remind the Irish landlords that property has its duties also. The possession of land has its political sweets, but it has also its political obligations.

In the estimation of all their countrymen, as of the whole civilised world, as also in fact, our landlords are our territorial chiefs. That is the fact implied in the boast that our constitution, in addition to its monarchical and republican elements, contains an equal proportion of the aristocratic. The fact is with difficulty tolerated by the more popular portion of the community. It is only tolerable from the consideration of its active utility. Time after time the political rights of property, especially of land, have been in imminent peril. They have been saved only by the allegation of the great responsibilities with which they were linked. Take away from land its magistracies, its titles, its representative influence, its feudal rights, its ecclesiastical patronage, and all the rest of its political poetry and power, and it will immediately be found, it is alleged, that you must create a new and expensive administration of your laws. On these grounds the burdensome fact is endured. The population, the intellect, the ambition, the energy of the country, do not like a government by landowners. They accept it as an existing fact, and as a choice of evils, inherited from a rude antiquity. They see that a sudden change would be simply a work of undoing, and would, therefore, be immensely dangerous. All this, however, supposes that the nation really can and does confide in the landowners. It is unnecessary to observe how peculiarly this is the case with regard to the property and territorial government of Ireland. The condition of Irish property is a particularly unpalatable fact. The people of England are disposed to be even extortionate in their demands upon its political responsibilities. They ask, "What else is the Irish aristocracy good for?"

Time will prove that we are doing the best possible service to the Irish landlords in reminding them of their political station, and backing them up to an honest discharge of its duties. They appear to imagine that they are objects of national pity, and may safely claim the national indulgence. We should be glad to think ourselves mistaken, but the accounts which reach us on every side prove an amount of imbecility, cowardice, desertion, not to say treachery, which evidently depends on the dangers of the crisis for its only excuse. The landlords, in too many instances, refuse to take the lead. They allow relief committees to make presentments beyond the bounds of possibility, common sense, and decency itself. Presentments of this sort, avowedly equivalent to the entire maintenance of the people for a twelvemonth, whoever the author, though Mr. O'Connell himself gave the word of command, are nothing less than wicked. Government cannot accede to them. It has not the money; it has not the food; it cannot get the food; it cannot accomplish the mere machinery; it cannot find surveyors competent to inspect, to sanction, and superintend the works; it cannot even find persons who can be trusted to measure and pay. Government must demur; it must also delay; and it must ultimately refuse. Asking such utter impossibilities from Government, and that on the pretence of having been invited to do so, is simply throwing upon Government the odium of refusal. It is a mere backhanded sort of sedition. Now, it is evidently the duty of the landlords to protest with all their might against so sinister and dishonest a proceeding, and so utterly unlike what we in this country consider to be due from gentlemen. We hear of no such protests. The relief mob carries the day. The excuse is that the landowners are afraid to protest. In anticipation of that excuse we beg to observe that England allows no man to flinch from a faithful discharge of his duty under any circumstances. One thing, moreover, is quite certain,—every farthing of the money advanced on the strength of these presentments will have to be repaid. Neither the burthened ratepayers of Buckinghamshire, nor the still more burthened taxpayers of Manchester, will consent to pay poor-rates and labour-rates for the Irish landlords.

The danger must be looked steadily in the face. The Government has already granted loans to the amount of more than half a million, and set to work more than 60,000 men. It cannot go on long at that pace, and must exercise caution. Of course there is want, but there is also the grossest mis-representation and fraud; and, what is worse still, there is good reason for supposing that the calamity is aggravated by the cry and by the exorbitant demands upon the Treasury which agitators have mischievously put into the mouths of the people. Productive labour has been brought to a stand-still by the hope of a winter's repose upon "relief" wages. It would be thought perhaps neither a very charitable nor a very decent expression were we to say that the whole Irish population is "making a very good thing" of the famine. There are, however, some very significant facts, explain them who can. Every branch of the Irish revenue, particularly the Excise, is flourishing almost beyond precedent. The distilleries are in brisker work than they have been for several years; and while Government is called upon to ransack the whole earth for food, the wholesome meal of thousands is daily converted into an innutricious and hurtful stimulus. In the districts where the complaint is the loudest, Clare and Limerick, the deposits in the savings-banks are higher than ever, and there has not been any perceptible increase in the amount withdrawn. The small farmers are paying neither wages nor rent. They are laying by. It can scarcely be credited to what purposes both the relief labour and the relief wages are applied. We are positively informed that it is not uncommon for the members of the relief committee to put their own tenants, labourers, or debtors upon the relief list, and by a private arrangement to lay an embargo on the wages. The potato crop all this time is left in the ground, it being an object not to ascertain the extent of the failure, or do any profitable work. If it is ever the worse for wet, it is likely to suffer the disadvantage now. So great a point, however, is made of leaving it under the veil of the earth, that we shall not be surprised to hear of men being shot for digging up their potatoes, just as every day reports fresh victims to the ordinance against paying rent. Idleness and despondency, however, must be presumed the chief causes of this absurd conduct, which is so general that we have heard of a man who had procured the distribution of a number of "relief" hands, setting them to work on digging up potatoes, as the most profitable work he could think of. Jobbing has become so notorious, that sense of shame is overpowered in a general competition for the spoil.

We beg to assure the landowners of Ireland that, whatever the crisis, whatever their dangers and difficulties, they will not escape the responsibility of this mismanagement. It will not be forgotten that they are landlords, and that, resident or non-resident, they have a certain power in the country. If they plainly confess that they can do nothing—that they cannot do anything to abate the popular disorder, to moderate unreasonable demands, to detect impostures, to check peculation, to employ industry, and relieve destitution by regular and local methods—one conclusion, one only will be drawn, viz., that they are now weighed in the balance and found wanting.

A SCHEME FOR DOING EVERYBODY GOOD.

(From the London Examiner, October 31.)

The world is in a bad way just now. Everything is going wrong with everybody. The news of Europe is a tale of disaster. France is half drowned and half burnt, and, besides her deficient harvest, beet-root has sickened after the potatoes. Great Britain, with the scarcity in Ireland, is not in a much better case. But if the times are out of joint, there are not wanting sage heads to set them right. The ancient who said he could make a small state a large one, boasted of what any fool could do if his country would but trust him. Nothing in the world is so easy as the aggrandizement of an empire. We have an example before us in a pamphlet entitled "Peace Act, by W. R. Cooke, who was a Blue-coat boy," and who published his tract "at his lodgings over against the Ditch Gates of the Blue-coat School, in the City of London."

Whether he is the boy he was will be judged from the specimens we shall quote of his project.

The design, briefly, is to do good to everybody, to give a step to every member of the community.

The first improvement is to be a change of name, the Empire of Peace being substituted for Great Britain, and a white flag is to be adopted instead of the union colours; next, the national debt is to be paid off at more than twenty shillings in the pound, the particulars of the plan we need not give, as the modes of paying off the debt are so many, and so easy to the meanest capacity, on paper. For the promotion of peace, preparations for war being always necessary, twenty millions sterling in bullion, or good acceptances, are always to be ready under the name of the Peace Rest. All duties are to be abolished, or reduced to next to nothing.

Having cleared his ground so far, Mr. Cooke casts about to do something for the Queen, and her Majesty will be well pleased to hear that he proposes nothing less for her than to create her Empress of Peace, with the title of Imperial Majesty, and a privy purse of £200,000 a year, besides her present revenue.

On the Prince of Wales our author proposes to confer the title of King of England, and for his allowance he gives his Majesty £100,000 a year, besides the usual income.

Prince Albert he makes an Imperial Prince, and increases his allowance by another hundred thousand a year.

To the younger children of her Majesty, Mr. Cooke allots £50,000 a year each, in addition to the customary grants.

We now come to the measures for the advancement of the nobility, and that each may see what is proposed for him, and be grateful to Mr. Cooke accordingly, we quote verbatim et literatim:

"X. And whereas under God the glorious Old Nobility of Great Britain have rendered high service to the Old Kingdom and the holy cause of Peace, which it is expedient to reward: be it enacted by the authority aforesaid—

1. That the Twenty Dukes, beginning with the Duke of Norfolk and ending with the Duke of Cleveland, shall be, and are, Princes of the Empire, with the style and title of Serene Highness.
2. That the houses of all the Imperial Princes, and of all the Princes of the Empire, shall be, and are palaces.
3. That the Twelve Marquises, beginning with the Marquis of Winchester and ending with the Marquis of Anglesea, shall be and are, Arch-Dukes, with the style and title of Highness
4. That the Eight Marquises, beginning with the Marquis of Camden and ending with the Marquis of Normanby, shall be, and are Dukes, with the style and title of Grace.
5. That the Twelve Earls, beginning with the Earl of Shewsbury and ending with the Earl of Chesterfield, shall be, and are Marquises.
6. That the Twelve Viscounts next in rank to the Earls, shall be, and are Earls.
7. That the Twelve Barons next in rank to the Viscounts, shall be, and are Viscounts.

"XI. And whereas increased dignity may cause increased expense, and thus bring about decay in the glorious Old Nobility of the Kingdom, which it is expedient to prevent, and also to mark the goodness of God in imparting inventions: be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid—

1. That a Sinecure shall be, and is hereby created, to be called Grand Master of the Steam Engine, with an allowance of fifty thousand pounds sterling per annum.
2. That a Sinecure shall be, and is hereby created, to be called Grand Master of the Printing Press, with an allowance of fifty thousand pounds sterling per annum.
3. That a Sinecure shall be, and is hereby created, to be called Grand Master of the Mariners' Compass, with an allowance of fifty thousand pounds sterling per annum.
4. That no one but a Peer of the Empire can hold any one of the three Sinecures.
5. That one of the three sinecures only can be held at any one time by any Peer of the Empire, to be annually elected by the Peers of the Empire.
6. That on all State occasions each Peer of the Empire, holding one of the three Sinecures, shall carry on a Velvet Cushion Models of a Steam Engine, a Printing Press, or a Binnacle Compass, according to his Sinecure."

Sir Robert Peel is not forgotton by Mr. Cooke:

"XV. And whereas the Right Honorable Sir Robert Peel, Baronet, has rendered good service to the Empire, as his sons are now doing, and as his most worthy father, the late Sir Robert Peel, Baronet, did before him, all which it is expedient to commemorate: be it enacted by the authority aforesaid:—

1. That Sir Robert Peel, Baronet, his heirs and successors, for ever, are to fill the office now created and named Crown Imperial.
2. That Crown Imperial shall by virtue of his office, on all state occasions, carry an Imperial Crown of fine gold on a velvet cushion.
3. That in default of heirs of the name of Peel, the Crown Imperial of the time being shall appoint his successor, to take the name of Peel; the appointment subject to the approval of the Imperial Sovereign.
4. That the Imperial Crown, to be borne by Crown Imperial, shall be supplied by the empire, of the value of ten thousand pounds sterling, at the least; and at the succession of each and every Imperial Sovereign a new and Imperial Crown to be borne by Crown Imperial, the others to be the property of Crown Imperial as his fee"

Lord Brougham will be glad to hear that an office is cut out for him. He is to have a seat in the Most High Court of Mercy, and to bear the title of the Most High Lord Brougham, with an allowance of £10,000 a-year in addition to his pension.

Mr. Cooke proposes:

"4. That the five great names of Brougham, Denman, Lyndhurst, Cottenham, and Campbell, shall endure for ever, and be borne by their successors in the Most High Court of Mercy for ever."

We think that Mr. Cooke ought to provide against the Most High Brougham's hunting in a pea-green coat, a livery not at all suited to the President of the High Court of Mercy.

The projector of the Empire of Peace characteristically concludes that if his scheme be carried into effect, the said Empire of Peace "will cast down and utterly subdue all enemies." What a suitable consummation of Peace!

Canadian Seasons.—In the summer, the excessive heat—the violent paroxysms of thunder—the parching drought—the occasional deluges of rain—the sight of bright red, bright blue, and other gaudy plumaged birds—of the brilliant humming-bird, and of innumerable fire-flies that at night appear like the reflection upon earth of the stars shining above them in the heavens, would almost persuade the emigrant that he was living within the tropics. As autumn approaches, the various trees of the forest assume hues of every shade of red, yellow, and brown, of the most vivid description. The air gradually becomes a healthy and delightful mixture of sunshine and frost, and the golden sunsets are so many glorious assemblages of clouds, some like mountains of white wool, others of the darkest hues—and of broad rays of yellow, of crimson, and of golden light, which, without intermixing, radiate upwards to a great height from the point of the horizon at which the deep red luminary is about to disappear. As the winter approaches the cold daily strengthens, and before the branches of the trees and the surface of the country become white, every living being seems to be sensible of the temperature that is about to arrive. The gaudy birds, humming-birds, and the fire-flies, depart first; then follow the pigeons, the wild fowls take refuge in the lakes, until scarcely a bird remains to be seen in the forest. Several of the animals seek refuge in warmer regions; and even the shaggy bear, whose coat seems warm enough to resist any degree of cold, instinctively looks out in time for a hollow tree into which he may leisurely climb, to hang in it during the winter as inanimate as a flitch of bacon from the ceiling of an English farm-house; and even many of the fishes make their deep-water arrangements for not coming to the surface of the rivers and harbours, during the period they are covered with ice.—Sir F. B. Head.

Acra Farm, near Calcutta.—Acra farm is situated some twelve or fifteen miles below Calcutta. I visited it as a stranger, while waiting in a ship for a flood tide; and its proprietor gave me a most hospitable reception. Mr. Wakefield has completely established the practicability of curing meat all through the year in this climate, so as to keep at sea for three years. He told me he killed 25,000 hogs per annum; and on my asking whether he suspended operations during the hot months, his reply was, "No, we go on at all seasons." I can vouch for the goodness of the hams, bacon, sausages, lard, &c., &c, which he exports, and shall be very glad if these remarks should lead a purchaser to his door. The muddy creeks near Acra farm swarm with alligators (whether attracted by the smell of blood or not, I cannot say), and they occasionally become very troublesome. The day before my visit Mr. Wakefield had had a mortal combat with one sixteen feet long, which he succeeded in destroying single-handed, and had brought home in proof of his prowess.—Davidson's Travels in the East.

The Old Country.—During my residence in Canada, I had read so much, had heard so much, and had preached so much, about the 'Old Country,' that as the New York packet in which I was returning approached its shores, I quite made up my mind to see, in the venerable countenance of 'my auld respeckit mither,' the ravages of time and the wrinkles of old age. Everything looked new. The grass in the meadows was new, the leaves on the trees and hedges were new, the flowers were new, the blossoms of the orchards were new, the lambs were new, the young birds were new, the crops were new, the railway was new. As we whisked along it, the sight per minute, of an erect man, in bottle-green uniform, standing like a direction post, stock still, with an arm extended, was new; the idea, whatever it might be intended to represent, was quite new. All of a sudden, plunging souse into utter darkness, and then again into bright dazzling sunshine, was new. Every station at which we stopped was new. The bells which affectionately greeted our arrival, and which, sometimes almost before we even could stop, bade us depart, were new. During one of the longest of these intervals, the sudden appearance of a line of young ladies behind a counter, exhibiting to hungry travellers tea, toast, scalding hot soup, sixpenny pork pies, and everything else that human nature could innocently desire to enjoy—and then, almost before we could get to these delicacies, being summarily ordered to depart—the sight of a crowd of sturdy Englishmen, in caps of every shape, hurrying to their respective carriages, with their mouths full—was new. In short, it was to new and merry England that, after a weary absence, I had apparently returned; and it was not until I had reached Downing-street I could believe that I really was once again in the 'Old Country.' But there I found everything old—old men, old women, old notions, old prejudices, old stuff, and old nonsense, and, what was infinitely worse, old principles; in fact, it appeared as if the building in which I stood was intended to collect and remove to our colonies all worn-out doctrines that had become no longer fit for home consumption.—Sir F. B. Head.

Hints about Food.—Roast meat contains nearly double the nourishment of boiled, but boiled meat is better adapted to weak digestion. Frying is one of the very worst methods of dressing food, as broiling is one of the best. Baked meat has a strong flavour, is deprived of some of its nutritious qualities, and is difficult of digestion. Spices, sauces, and melted butter, should never be used by the invalid, and in health they are not required.—Kitton's Practical Medicine.

Mineral Wealth of this Country.—In the course of a lecture delivered to the general classes of King's College, by Mr. Tenant, on mineralogical geology, the lecturer stated that the annual value of the mineral produce of the country amounts to about twenty-five millions. Of this, £9,100,000 is from coals, £8,400,000 from iron, £1,200,000 from copper, £920,000 from lead, £400,000 from salt, £390,000 from tin, £60,000 from manganese, £35,000 from silver, £22,000 from alum, £8000 from zinc, and £25,000 from the various other metals, as antimony, bismuth, arsenic, &c.

SELTERS WATER.

THE undersigned beg to call the attention of their friends and the public to the above, as a natural soda water, infinitely superior in salubrity and capability of relieving thirst to the artificial soda water, so largely consumed in this semi-tropical climate. The carbonic acid gas, to which both owe their exhilarating effect, is contained in great abundance in the selters water, but in such an intimate state of combination, that instead of distending the stomach by its sudden escape from the water in which it is dissolved, gently and gratefully stimulates it in its slow and gradual evolution, thereby promoting digestion, while the great objection to the fictitious soda water is the great injury which it is known to inflict upon the stomach and digestive organs.

DONALDSON AND CO.,
3114 398, Pitt-street.

TO BE SOLD,
AN EXCELLENT HEALTHY SHEEP OR CATTLE STATION, WITH OR WITHOUT CATTLE.

THE above Station is situated near to Armidale, New England, and is capable of depasturing 15,000 sheep or 3000 head of cattle, there being an abundance of good grass, and well supplied with water in the driest seasons from four creeks which pass through the ground. There is a good slab house of five rooms on the premises, with an excellent garden attached thereto,—likewise two paddocks, enclosed with a substantial three-railed fence, and now in a state of cultivation; the garden produces excellent vegetables of all kinds, and the ground in the paddocks is capable of producing forty bushels of wheat per acre—also good maize and potatoes, the latter equal to the best Derwent.

There is also on the premises a substantial built stockyard, which cost the owner £40, also a small barn and milking yard.

To persons requiring new stations for stock, the owner can with great confidence recommend the present station as being particularly healthy and convenient, from its proximity to water carriage, being only one hundred miles distant from the Clarence River, where produce can be shipped for Sydney, and is two hundred miles nearer to Sydney than any new station can be formed.

For terms and other particulars, application must be made to Mr. William Adnum, Coppersmith, George-street, Sydney; Mr. Walter Rotton, Innkeeper, Patrick's Plains; Mr. Henry Nowland, Muswellbrook; or to the proprietor, Mr. William Nowland, Mooki River, Liverpool Plains.

STOLEN OR STRAYED

ABOUT the 16th June last, from Narellan, Cowpastures, a black colt, 3 years old, near hind foot white up to fetlock joint, not broke in, long tail, rather coarse head, about fifteen hands high. One pound ten shillings reward will be paid by the undersigned if strayed; and if stolen, five pounds will be paid on conviction of the thief.

JOSEPH SCOTT, Sen.,
3085 Mount Pleasant, Narellan.

STOLEN or Strayed, from Mr. Wild' run, in the district of Cabramatta, a bay mare, branded J B near shoulder, and C on saddle near side, with two foals. A reward of one pound will be paid for their delivery to Mr. Wild, if strayed; and two pounds for the necessary information, if stolen. A number of mares, colts, and fillies, branded JC on near saddle, having strayed away from a run in the above district, a reward of one pound each will be paid for their delivery to Mr. Wild; or to James Cunningham, King-street, Sydney. 2999

STRAYED, from Bogalong, near Yass, a bay gelding, with black points, 13½ hands high, branded RC on off shoulder, W under the mane.

Also, a black gelding, with white hind fetlock, switch tail, about 15 hands high, branded SC under saddle near side; was last seen at Rhyana, near Goulburn.

Whoever will deliver either of the said horses to Mr. Faulder, Bogalong; Messrs. B. Harrison, and Co., Yass; Mr. Chatfield, Rhyana; or Mr. Lamb, Sydney, or give such information as may lead to the recovery of either, will receive a reward of one pound. 3097

WEDNESDAY, 3RD MARCH.

ABOUT ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY HEAD OF VERY CHOICE BLOOD AND OTHER HORSE STOCK, COMPRISING THE WHOLE STUD OF WILLIAM FOSTER, ESQ.,

WILL BE SOLD BY AUCTION BY

MR. LYONS, at Nash's Woolpack Inn, Parramatta, on

WEDNESDAY, 3RD MARCH NEXT,
At eleven o'clock,

Amongst the blood stock are the well-known stallions St. Heliers and Charles O'Malley; the imported mares Paraguay, and Prism mare; as also Lady Clifton, Cinderella, Emmeline, Alice Hawthorne, &c., &c., together with a number of colts and fillies, the produce of the above and other mares, by the imported entire horses Vagabond, St. John, Young Camel, &c., &c.

The other stock consists principally of very superior mares, (which have been carefully selected and purchased at great prices from H. H. Kater, Esq., and other celebrated breeders of horse stock), and their produce, amongst which will be found several most beautiful colts and filles, scarcely inferior to thoroughbred. The whole may be seen at Littleham, South Creek, until their removal to Parramatta for sale.

Catalogues of their pedigree may be had of the auctioneer after Friday, the 19th instant.

Terms at sale. 8127

MARES, COLTS, AND FILLIES,

the breed of the celebrated imported horses—

SIR CHARLES
EGREMONT
VAGABOND
GRATIS

besides several imported Mares, and about twenty good useful Cart Horses and Mares, from three to four years old, now running at Mr. Charles Roberts' Estates, Mount Vernon, South Creek, and Wallgrove.

☞ Catalogues of their pedigree may be had of the auctioneer after Monday, the 8th instant.

Terms at sale. 709

TUESDAY, 23RD MARCH.

ONE THOUSAND HEAD OF CATTLE,

WITH STATIONS

NEAR THE HUME AND MURRUMBIDGEE RIVERS.

MR. SAMUEL LYONS will sell by auction, at his Mart, corner of George-street and Charlotte-place,

ON TUESDAY, 23RD MARCH,
At eleven o'clock,

ON ACCOUNT OF A DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP,

1000 HEAD OF CATTLE, MORE OR LESS,

CONSISTING OF ABOUT

180 Bullocks
354 Cows
497 Steers, heifers, and calves

All calves under six months old to be given in;

With right to the Station named

KERGUNIA,

near the Hume River.

The Cattle are from the breeds of the late Dr. Reid, and Messrs. Oxley and Coghill, and are remarkably quiet, most of them having been bred from milkers. A large draf of fat cattle can now be taken from the herd, none having been withdrawn for the last two years.

The station is only twenty miles from the township of Albury, which is a post town, and through which the Port Phillip road passes, at the crossing-place of the Hume River. It is one of the most compact runs in the colony, being bounded on one side by about ten miles frontage on the Little River, and on the remaining three sides by high ranges.

On the station are two cultivation paddocks, one horse paddock, and one large weaning paddock; also stockyards, barn, stables, stores, dairy, huts for the men, garden, &c.

Delivery of the cattle and station will be given within one month from day of sale.

Implements and stores to be taken at a valuation.

There is, besides the above station, another one, called TOOTOOL, in the Billybong Forest, near the Murrumbidgee, capable of carrying 2000 head of cattle, which will either be sold with the above cattle or separately.

Terms,

Twenty per cent. cash deposit on the fall of the hammer; and for the residue, half cash and half by approved bills at three months' date from day of sale, without interest, to be given previous to an order for the delivery being granted.

☞ The superior breed of the above cattle, and the convenient situation of the station on which they are running, make this sale particularly worthy of the attention of parties supplying the Port Phillip and South Australian markets. 2417

4119 SHEEP OF THE VERY FIRST QUALITY.

NOW RUNNING AT DARLING DOWNS, IN CHARGE OF G. GAMMIE, ESQ.

WARRANTED SOUND AND NEVER DISEASED.

MR. MORT

Is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on

FRIDAY, 5TH MARCH,
At twelve o'clock,

THE following lot of sheep, (an entire flock, hitherto on halves with G. Gammie, Esq.), viz.:—

2030 Ewes of mixed ages, but chiefly young sheep
441 Maiden Ewes
1598 Wethers, a large number of which are fit for the butcher
50 Rams

4119 Head, more or less, besides about 840 lambs, being the proprietor's half share of this year's increase.

☞ These sheep are unquestionably of first-rate quality, both as respects their healthful condition and fineness of their wool.

They are running on the station of G. Gammie, Esq., on the Darling Downs, about 10 miles from Brisbane, and any party purchasing as an investment, is informed that several highly respectable gentlemen in the neighbourhood will gladly receive them on terms.

Terms at sale. 3127

A CHOICE FLOCK.

250 YOUNG EWES
150 DITTO, NOT OVER THREE YEARS
200 WETHERS AND RAMS
170 LAMBS, OVER SIX MONTHS

770 MORE OR LESS.

MR. MORT

Will sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on

WEDNESDAY, 10TH MARCH,
At 12 o'clock,

THE above lot of excellent SHEEP, now running on the Lower Murray.

WARRANTED SOUND AND NEVER DISEASED.

Terms—Cash. 3124

THE ESTATE OF HAZLEDEAN,

ON THE UPPER HUNTER, CONSISTING OF 560 ACRES FINE LAND, WITH COTTAGES, HUTS, AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS, AND COMMANDING GOVERNMENT LAND SUFFICIENT TO CARRY

10,000 SHEEP.

Has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,

TO-MORROW, 25TH FEBRUARY,
At 12 o'clock,

WITHOUT THE LEAST RESERVE.

ALL those 560 ACRES OF EXCELLENT LAND, situate at the junction of Bell's Creek with the River Hunter, about ninety miles from Maitland, together with the improvements thereon, consisting of—Two COTTAGES and two Huts, Stockyard and Garden of about one and a half acres, &c.

The land is well adapted for cultivation, and particularly for fattening Stock, and in the greatest drought we know there has been water to superfluity, with abundance of feed.

☞ This is an admirable opportunity for a young beginner, inasmuch as the country is admirably adapted for sheep, in an excellent neighbourhood, and on the station is every requisite for carrying on a Sheep or Cattle Establishment, all of which may be had at a valuation.

Title—Unexceptionable.

Terms—Cash. 3126

THE DISTRICT OF WELLINGTON.

1900 SUPERIOR SHEEP,

WITH A RUN

THAT WILL CARRY 5000 HEAD.

MR. MORT

Will sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on

WEDNESDAY, 10TH MARCH,
At twelve o'clock,

THE FOLLOWING LOT OF SHEEP, viz.:—

500 Ewes, 2 years off
650 Ditto, aged
750 Wethers, 2 years off
Rams

1900 Head, more or less

THE STATION

Commands a never-failing supply of water and abundance of feed, and is known as "Cunamrabinia," about 70 miles from Bathurst, and will carry, as above stated, about 5000 head.

The improvements consist of the following, viz.:—

A three-roomed building, very substantially put up
Two strong paling yards
Three ditto bough ditto
Huts for men
100 hurdles, wheat mills, &c., &c.

THE SHEEP WARRANTED SOUND AND NEVER DISEASED.

☞ This is a capital opportunity for a small capitalist, as the station is a good one, the sheep choice, and the terms of payment liberal. 3123

4200 MOST DESIRABLE SHEEP

WITH

FOR

10,000 SHEEP AND 1000 CATTLE.

MR. MORT

Has been instructed by the proprietor, (who is about to visit Europe), to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,

IN ALL MARCH NEXT,

(the precise day will be made known on the return of the steamer, hourly expected from the Clarence),

THE following highly valuable Lot of Sheep, viz.:—

800 Maiden Ewes
800 Ewes, three years old
800 Full-mouthed Ewes
800 Eighteen months old Wethers
1000 Ditto, 2½ and 3½ years old.

4200 Head, more or less, all lambs under six six months being given in.

☞ THE SHEEP ARE WARRANTED SOUND IN EVERY RESPECT, AND IN FIRST-RATE HEALTH AND CONDITION.

THE STATION

Is known as "Deura," situate on the middle branch of the Clarence River, and consists of fine elevated table land, of similar character to the New England country, upon which district it abutts. Its supply of water and feed is unbounded, and it is calculated to carry at least

TEN THOUSAND SHEEP,

AND

and it is worthy of remark, that catarrh was never known in the locality.

The magnificent run of Mr. Archibald Boyd, known as "Newton Boyd," and that of the "Broadmeadows," belonging to Mr. W. Boyd, immediately adjoin "Deura," which circumstance alone will, to parties acquainted with those runs, be a sufficient guarantee for the excellence of the country where the station now offered for sale is situated.

Deura is distant from the Clarence River settlement about fifty miles.

THE IMPROVEMENTS ARE

A good dwelling of three rooms for overseer
Four men's huts
New woolshed
300 hurdles
Substantial stockyard, &c.

N.B.—There are supplies upon the station for six months, which, together with the implements, woolpress, &c., may be taken at a valuation.

Terms at sale. 3122

Sheriff's Office, Sydney
23rd February, 1847.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Mary Jane Jones, administratrix of Robert Jones, deceased, plaintiff;

AND

William George Augustus Fitzhardinge, defendant.

WHEREAS it has been represented to me that an action is pending in the Supreme Court of New South Wales, wherein the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge is plaintiff, and William Rutledge and Richard Rogers are defendants, to recover the sum of one hundred and forty-six pounds, seventeen shillings, and fourpence, alleged to be due by the said defendants in the said action, to the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge, for work done and performed by the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge as a solicitor, and for fees due and payable to the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge, in respect thereof, and upon an account then stated between the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge and the said defendants, I do hereby give notice, that on Saturday next, the 27th day of February instant, at the hour of twelve o'clock (noon) at the London Tavern, in George-street, Sydney, I will cause to be sold all the right, title, and interest of the said William George Augustus Fitzhardinge in and to the chose in action vested in him in respect of the claim which the said action is brought to recover, unless this execution be previously satisfied.

ADOLPHUS WM. YOUNG,
3091 Sheriff.
